Transforming Your Break Room Into a Hygienic Break Space

Dixie® Break Room Collection

BREAK ROOM

Georgia-Pacific

Is Your Break Room Hygiene Ready?

Break rooms remain essential to office life, but we all know how vulnerable they can be to the spread of germs. Fortunately, more professionals are adopting hygienic practices—from handwashing to social distancing to enhanced cleaning, sanitizing and disinfecting. But what about the break room products used every day? Are they engineered to protect your employees and guests? Look to the following to help ensure your break room is hygiene ready:

Disposable Products

Using disposable products—vs. permanent-ware cups, plates or cutlery—can help prevent cross-contamination and minimize personal contact.

Touchless, Closed System Dispensers

Touchless dispensing allows patrons to take products such as cutlery without making contact with the dispenser itself ... no levers or buttons to push. And closed systems help protect products inside from contamination.

One-at-a-Time Dispensing

When products such as napkins are dispensed one at a time, patrons only touch what they need.
